

CoCo Seminar Series: Spring 2012

Wednesday 9:00-10:00am

Biotechnology Building, Room 2221 (ITC Conference Room) *except 4/18
With refreshments; followed by free discussions

February 8: Zhanpeng Jin (Electrical and Computer Engineering)
"Towards Trustworthy Pervasive Medical Monitoring"

February 22: Hiroki Sayama (Bioengineering & Systems Science and Industrial Engineering)
"How Networks Changed the "Scale" of Our World"

March 7: Hadassah Head (Systems Science)
*"Electronic Brainstorming: Is Fluency All There Is to It?"**
(*This title was generated using Hadassah's electronic brainstorming system ☺)

March 21: Seth Spain (School of Management)
"Personality Traits As Emergent Causal States: A Dynamic Model of Behavior Consistency and Change"

April 18: Troy Tassier (Economics, Fordham University)
***NOTE: location changed to AA G023 on 4/18*****
"Marginal Infections and Vaccine Decisions of Healthcare Workers"

April 25: Jason Barr (Economics, Rutgers University)
"Social Networks and Educational Effort: An Agent-based Model"

May 9: Agent-based Policy Modeling Class: Final Presentation
(discussion led by Andreas Pape)

Contact Hiroki Sayama (sayama@binghamton.edu) for more information